RIMBEY NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thorpe returned from B. C. last week.
They report a good time, but Bert says Alberta is good enough for him.

Geo. Kaywood came down from Buck Lake last week. He returned after a brief visit.

J. L. Loyd threshed out only a portion of his grain last Thursday, which yielded 1040 bushels. He seems to be well pleased considering this year a failure. Never mind Jesse, who will become reconciled after awhile.

The sale at Mr. Doublewarner's last Monday was quite a success.
Mr. Doublewarner was well pleased the way everything sold.

Geo. Flack expects to return to Twin Falls, Idaho, where he made his home previous to coming to Alberta. We are, indeed, sorry to lose so good a fellow. However, we wish him good luck, and hope for a speedy return.

Mr. and Mrs. Doublewarner leave for a trip through B. C. and Wash., from there to Nebraska, where they expect to locate.

The word "Literary" is heard throughout the vicinity. Let us listen eagerly and welcome its coming, for we are all waiting patiently.

A great many from Rimbeys expect to attend the banquet given at Bentley next Thursday. We will listen later for the reports of having a good time.

Thanksgiving Day will soon be here. Everyone look out for their turkeys.

Miss Emma Webb came out from Lacombe last Saturday evening. She expects to visit her parents for a couple of weeks.

Miss Webb visited with Miss Loyd over Sunday last.

Glenn Iddings, who for the past year has been in Burke, Idaho, returned last week. It was quite a surprise to everyone, but we are certainly pleased to see him back among us again.

Mike Uhle has a bad cut on his upper lip, which will no doubt stay with him for a day or two.
I wonder what caused it. Can any one tell?

Several of the popular young people attended the meek ball at Bentley last Friday night. They report a good time.

Lacombe Rifle Association.

Editor, Western Globe.

Dear Sir—

Three or four years ago some of the citizens of Lacombe started a Rifle Association, to be conducted under the regulation of the Dominion Government, but, owing to the apathy of the members it was allowed to die a natural death after a very short existence. This is a bad state of affairs, as the Dominion Government gives great encouragement and assistance to this form of sport. I have lately received a letter upon the matter from Colonel S. E. Steele, Commanding Military District No. 13, in which he says:—"It seems a matter for regret that such a large centre as Lacombe should be without any defence organization."

He further adds, "Captain Mackie, D.S.O., District Staff Adjutant, will vouch for me, and see you personally, on this matter sometime next month, and in the meantime, if you can arouse sufficient local interest to get the Association on its feet again, or form a new Association, I shall be pleased to render you any assistance in my power."

It is necessary for there to be 30 members, properly enrolled (who must be residents of the locality) before the Association will be recognized by the Government, and as the Government provides rifles and ammunition free and gives an annual grant towards the maintenance of a range, I think there certainly should be something done at once towards starting so desirable an organization.
I shall be only too pleased to give any information I can on the matter to anyone desirous of joining.

Yours truly,

L. B. BROWN

CHARLES B. HALPIN, Editor and Manager

The Public Works Committee.

Our esteemed Contemporary, The Advertiser, devotes two columns of its valuable space to what appears to be an inspired call-down of the Western Globe for its criticism of the slack business methods of the Public Works committee. It says:

"The Globe comes out this week with what appears to be an inspired attack upon the Public Works Committee of the Town Council. The article contains statements and insinuations that are unfair and inaccurate in the extreme."

The article in The Globe was inspired. We received our inspiration from the fact that all summer money has been judiciously spent by this committee, and that it was time their attention was called to the fact.

Take the grading for instance. Every citizen of Lacombe knows that the amount of work done by the men and teams employed on this work could have been done in half the time under good management.

Take the sewer now under construction. The Public Works Committee wasted nine months of the year in wrangling, and then, without any preparation for the supply of tile or anything else, against the best judgment of the majority of the citizens of the town, the committee commences the work.

With reference to Mr. Waldern's inability to supply the tile, the Advertiser says:

"The Globe seems to be of the opinion that this would have been the time to have 'sucked the screws' onto Waldern and thus have further hampered him in his efforts to fulfil his contract."

The Globe still maintains that if the town has a contract with Mr. Waldern he should be compelled to fulfil his part of it or pay any extra expense caused by inability on his part. Would any member of the Public Works Committee in their private business let a person who was worth the money out of a legitimate contract because the party contracting found he could not carry out his part of the work? We think not. The Advertiser continues:

"The Globe gives a purported interview with Councillor Murphy of the Public Works Committee, in which he is charged with stating that the town has no contract with Mr. Waldern. A representative of The Advertiser has interviewed Mr. Murphy in regard to this and he emphatically denies having made such a statement."

We can only repeat what we said last week. Councillor Murphy did tell a representative of The Western Globe that the town was not bound to take the lot of tile from Mr. Waldern and that Mr. Waldern had no contract which compelled the town to take tile from him. We would ask our friend The Advertiser to have Councillor Murphy deny this over his own signature. (We are aware that inspired interviewers get twisted sometimes before they appear in print). The Advertiser also remarks:

"The people of this town practically without exception, admit the necessity of this town drain."

In view of the large petition (over seventy of the heaviest rate-payers of Lacombe having signed it) which was presented to the council asking that the drain be not constructed this year, we are surprised and grieved at the perversity of the editor of The Advertiser.

Another thing we cannot call strict business on the part of the Public Works Committee is the procuring of brick for the manholes of the new sewer. Some eighteen or twenty thousand bricks are required for this work, and there is considerable money involved in this one item. The Lacombe Brick, Tile and Cement Co. are supplying this material. Two members of the Public Works Committee are President and Secretary of the Brick Co. Now, Advertiser, will you endorse this action of the Committee?

Once more, friend Advertiser. Will you inform the public whose teams were employed on the street grading? Were they owned by members of the Public Works Committee?

As to The Western Globe knocking the town. The Advertiser knows that for years the business of the town has been carried on in a ship-shod manner, and the doings of the council never called forth the slightest comment from either of Lacombe's newspapers. The citizens of the town were kept completely in the dark and the newspapers' conduct is a credit to their owners.

This, as we have already noted, is a hard thing for the public to understand. Every political newspaper has daily proof of the survival of the old idea that it lives, moves and has its being in the will of a party to which it is responsible for every opinion it utters and for every item it publishes. There is, for example, the all-but universal belief that a party newspaper should take particular care never to offend anybody who belongs to the party lest he should bolt to the opposite camp. This theory is illustrated in numberless ways. Mr. Jones, a dub of the first order, aspires to the municipal council or the school board; he counts, as a matter of course, upon the support of the newspaper professing the political opinions which he also holds. If, on the contrary, he meets with opposition from this newspaper he considers himself badly used by the party and not infrequently bolts. Or Mr. Smith, a stalwart, gets himself into a position involving an unpleasant degree of publicity. He expects the party newspaper to suppress or minimize the facts out of deference to his party standing. The newspaper is up against propositions of this sort all the time.

In time, no doubt, juster concepts of the true function of a newspaper will prevail. It is not the business of a newspaper, however outspoken it may be in its advocacy of political opinions, to act as whipper-in for a party or to use its power in pleading disaffection and adjusting differences. It is its duty to advocate the principles and policies it believes to be right without much regard for the doleful timorosity of time-servers, conscious that in the long run it can thus best serve the party to which it is allied and the State at large. As it, on the one hand, repudiates any subservience to party expediency, it cannot on the other expect its views or opinions to be accepted as a matter of course by all party members.

Newspapers and Parties.

The public is slow to realize the change in the status of party newspapers which has been brought about within the last twenty years by the process of evolution. The old conception of a party newspaper as the paid, kept official organ of the party's views dies hard, though the newspaper to which this description applies is now almost a rarity. Newspapers, nowadays, are self-governed and self-sustaining institutions; and their active participation in politics is due, not to orders from some party leader, but to their own independent action. A newspaper without political opinions, without interests in the national, provincial, and municipal problems, would have no reason for its existence; it could never hope for any measure of popular support. Because newspapers cannot fulfil their functions unless they freely discuss public affairs they cannot keep out of politics. Every newspaper which is worth anything has its party sympathies and party affiliations, which by no means preclude the possibility of complete independence upon the part of its administrators.

This, as we have already noted, is a hard thing for the public to understand. Every political newspaper has daily proof of the survival of the old idea that it lives, moves and has its being in the will of a party to which it is responsible for every opinion it utters and for every item it publishes. There is, for example, the all-but universal belief that a party newspaper should take particular care never to offend anybody who belongs to the party lest he should bolt to the opposite camp. This theory is illustrated in numberless ways. If, on the contrary, he meets with opposition from this newspaper he considers himself badly used by the party and not infrequently bolts. Or Mr. Smith, a stalwart, gets himself into a position involving an unpleasant degree of publicity. He expects the party newspaper to suppress or minimize the facts out of deference to his party standing. The newspaper is up against propositions of this sort all the time.

NEW COTTAGE FOR SALE

Mr. W. Spice intends leaving coast shortly and offers his new cottage on Barnett Avenue for sale at a bargain. Enquire at

HORNE & SPICE
Young Men's Club.

Two weeks ago the young men of the Methodist church organized a Young Men's Club, and elected the following officers:

Hon. Pres., Rev. H. E. Gordon, B.A.; Pres. S. Page; Vice Pres., J. C. McNair; Sec., Treas., H. Slater; Counsellors, L. Puffer, D. L. Garland, L. B. Miller.

The first matter that the executive had to deal with, was the securing of suitable rooms, and as a solution of the problem the boys decided to build, with the result that today a building has been erected at the rear of the church which will cost about $600. The reading room is 20 ft. by 14 ft. and the parlor 16 ft. by 14 ft., both rooms being well lighted by electricity and connected by folding doors.

The object of the organization and the rooms is to offer to all a place of meeting where they will be free from temptations that meet man in other places of amusement. It may be objected that this club is under denominational control. Only to this extent—many splendid organizations have gone to the wall in this town because they have not been under the auspices of any strong organizations. To guard against any such calamity the Methodist church is back of this scheme. All men young and old of any or of no organization are heartily welcome to these rooms. An open door and a glad hand will be the rule.

In the reading room will be all the daily papers and many of the best monthly magazines, also chess, checkers, crokinole, and other interesting games. In the parlor will be music and a writing table furnished with writing material. Within the Young Men's Club will be organized teams to take up debating, hockey, curling, etc.

To realize these plans will require the co-operation of all who sympathize with such a movement. Donations of games, papers, magazines, furnishings, etc., will help the club very much. The rooms will be thrown open to the public on the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 4th. A big rally of all young people and well-wishers of the plan will be held on that night. An interesting program will be presented and speeches delivered by prominent citizens.
